

BIO

Assoc. Prof. Margaret Chan

Dr Margaret Chan is Associate Professor of Theatre and Performance Studies (Practice) with the School Social Sciences, Singapore Management University. Her research field is in Chinese spirit medium worship, theatre anthropology, applied cultural heritage and strategic culture. She is an acclaimed Singapore actor and pioneer of English language theatre in Singapore.

Dr Chan was a Fulbright scholar with Columbia University, New York. She read for her PhD (University of London) as the recipient of the prestigious UK Overseas Research Scholarship and Thomas Holloway Scholarship. Her MA (Distinction) was with the famous Royal Central School of Speech and Drama, University of London. Dr Chan holds a Certificate of Teaching, Higher Education (Distinction) (Royal Holloway, University of London).