

Dr. Kelvin E.Y. Low is Associate Professor and Deputy Head of the Department of Sociology, National University of Singapore. He also serves as the President of the thematic group, TG07 Senses and Society with the International Sociological Association. His research interests include sensory studies, migration and transnationalism, social memory, and food and foodways. He is author or editor of four books, with the most recent being Senses in Cities: Experiences of Urban Settings (Routledge 2017), and Remembering the Samsui Women: Migration and Social Memory in Singapore and China (UBC Press 2014; NUS Press 2015). His journal articles have appeared in Pacific Affairs, Ethnic and Racial Studies, The Sociological Review and Journal of Historical Sociology, among others. He is presently working on a monograph about Nepalese Gurkha families and their migratory lifeworlds in the contexts of Singapore, Nepal, Hong Kong, and the UK.